

Classification of mullerian anomalies: is a consensus possible?

Wednesday, 30th March 2022 6pm (UK time)

Join us to hear world leaders discuss current classifications of Mullerian anomalies.

Organiser:
Martin Hirsch

Consultant Gynaecologist,
Oxford Endometriosis CaRe
Centre, University of Oxford

Moderator:
Ertan Saridogan

Consultant in Reproductive Medicine and Minimal Access
Surgery, University College London

Moderator:
Pietro Bortoletto

Fellow of Reproductive Endocrinology & Infertility in Obstetrics and Gynecology,
Weill Cornell Medical College

Time, Topic and Speakers:

18:00-18:05

18:05-18:20

18:20-18:35

18:35-18:50

18:50-19:00

19:00

Introduction and welcome

The new ASRM 2021
Classification of mullerian anomalies

Uterine anomalies: time to rethink?

Complex mullerian anomalies: are the current classification systems sufficient

Questions & Discussion
All Panellists

End

Samantha Pfeifer

Associate Professor of Clinical Reproductive Medicine and Obstetrics
& Gynecology at Weill
Cornell Medical College

Grigoris Grimbizis

Professor in Obstetrics
and Gynaecology,
Aristotle University of Thessaloniki, Greece

Maribel Acien

Associate Professor of Gynaecology
Coordinator, reproductive surgery, ESHRE SIG

Supported by:

Fertility and Sterility

FACTS, VIEWS & VISION
Journal of the European Society of Gynaecological Endoscopy (ESGE)

Register for free HERE
(Registration Required)